Anti-Trust Guidelines

---

- No promotional remarks or discussion of purchase, sale, or pricing for goods and services.
- No sharing or discussion of confidential or proprietary information.
- No discussion of mergers, acquisitions, and divestment plans.
- No sharing or discussion of compliance costs.
- No discussion about how companies intend to respond to potential or actual government action.
- No disparaging remarks.
- Antitrust laws are regulations that encourage competition by limiting the market power of any particular firm. This often involves ensuring that mergers and acquisitions don't overly concentrate market power or form monopolies, as well as breaking up firms that have become monopolies. Antitrust laws also prevent multiple firms from colluding or forming a cartel to limit competition through practices such as price fixing.

Mental Illness by the Numbers

1 in 4

PEOPLE

around the world suffer from mental disorders — more than cancer, diabetes or heart disease.

50%

TEENS AT RISK

Half of those with mental disorders show signs of the disease by age 14, but it often takes more than 10 years to get treatment.

450 million

PEOPLE

worldwide have some type of mental disorder.

90 suicides

EVERY HOUR

Nearly 2,200 people/day (800,000/year) die by suicide —90% related to mental disorders.

360,000 people

with mental illness are housed in under-equipped US jails 35,000 are in hospitals

Inadequate Healthcare

Mental illness accounts for 20% of the global burden of disease. Only 3% of the world's healthcare budgets goes to mental health needs

$2.5 trillion/year

IN COSTS

Spent directly and indirectly on mental illness. We will spend $6 trillion by 2030 worldwide, more than heart disease, cancer and diabetes
